School specific areas of required specializations
for Assistant Professor Positions

School of Biology

All areas of biology. However preferences will be given to the applicants with outstanding record of research achievements who would strengthen the existing research areas of the School of Biology.

School of Chemistry

All areas of Chemistry however, preferences will be given to the applicants in the following areas: Computational chemistry, Chemical biology, Electrochemistry, Organometallic chemistry leads to catalysis and Polymer Chemistry (Physical) hooked up with materials.

School of Mathematics

All areas of mathematics, statistics and theoretical computer science. However preferences will be given to the applicants with outstanding record of research achievements who would strengthen the existing research areas of the School of Mathematics.

School of Physics

Applicants working in the following areas : Atomic and Molecular physics, Quantum Optics, Soft Matter Physics and Particle Physics (Phenomenology) will be preferred.